

Comedian Eva Victor makes her directorial debut with Sorry, Baby, arriving at DCA Cinema this week. This sharply funny and authentic exploration of life after trauma follows a young woman trying to move on after being assaulted.

There's more time to catch The Life of Chuck, starring Tom Hiddleston, Ari Aster's post-pandemic drama Eddington and The Ballad of Wallis Island, which returns by popular demand. Elsewhere, Jaws, the original summer blockbuster, returns to the big screen for its 50th anniversary.

The Oslo Stories Trilogy continues with Love, Victoria Mapplebeck captures her parenting journey over two decades in Motherboard and the team behind Prima Facie return with new NT Live play Inter Alia. Finally, put your knowledge to the test with DCA's Big Film Quiz, taking place in Cinema 1 for the first time ever. Enjoy!

Fri 29 August - Thu 4 September

Sorry, Baby (15, 1h43m)

Heartache and humour combine in this acclaimed directorial debut, which follows a young woman trying to move on after an assault.

Sorry, Baby

Eddington (15, 2h29m)

Ari Aster (Hereditary, Midsommar) returns to the director's seat with a modern western starring Joaquin Phoenix and Pedro Pascal.

Eddington

The Life of Chuck (15, 1h50m)

Winner of the audience award at Toronto International Film Festival. A genre-bending, life-affirming adaptation of Stephen King's novella.

The Life of Chuck

Motherboard (15, 1h27m)

Shot over 20 years, BAFTA award-winning director Victoria Mapplebeck captures the pain, joy and comedy of single motherhood.

The Ballad of Wallis Island (12A, 1h40m)

This charming comedy-drama features original folk music and returns to the big screen at DCA by popular demand.
