

Big swings hit DCA Cinema this week: Tom Cruise and Alejandro G Iñárritu are coming in hot with wild, Kubrickian comedy Digger. Cruise steps into a mountain of prosthetics and a Texan swagger as a crusty oilman trying to save the world from a climate crisis he created, and you have to see it to believe it.

We also have the powerful documentary Knife: The Attempted Murder of Salman Rushdie, about the author's recovery and belief in freedom of expression, and Dundee's own Brian Cox still chills to the bone as Hannibal in the Final Cut of crime masterpiece Manhunter, celebrating its 40th anniversary in 4K.

Plus, the beautiful Sense and Sensibility continues, Manipulate Arts celebrates Scotland's ever-evolving independent animation scene with a dazzling programme, Così fan tutte comes to us live from the Met, RSA200 presents presents a showcase of moving image work by Royal Scottish Academicians from the past 20 years, and the MCU's finest are back on screen with Avengers: Endgame Encore.

Fri 2 - Thu 8 October

Digger (15, 2h8m)

Tom Cruise dazzles as an aging oil man in this ambitious and divisive eco satire from the director of Birdman and The Revenant.

Digger

Knife: The Attempted Murder of Salman Rushdie (15, 1h47m)

The author and his wife detail his recovery following the brutal attack in 2021 in this profoundly moving and hopeful documentary.

Knife: The Attempted Murder of Salman Rushdie

Manhunter (40th Anniversary, 4K Restoration) (18, 2h)

Brian Cox gives what many consider the definitive Hannibal performance in Michael Mann's ice-cool serial killer thriller.

Manhunter: The Final Cut (40th Anniversary, 4K Restoration)

Live from the Met: Così fan tutte (U, 3h57m)

Mozart's opera is restaged in 1950s Coney Island, with the uproarious story set at a boardwalk amusement park.

Manipulate Arts: Scottish Shorts + Q&A (15, 1h35m approx.)

Discover dazzling work from Scotland's thriving indie animation movement. Screening with subtitles and a captioned Q&A.

RSA Moving Image Programme (15, 2h)

The RSA celebrates 200 years with a showcase of existing and brand-new film work from some of its greatest artists working in the medium.
