

Embark on an adrenaline-fuelled ride through a dystopian vision of the future with Civil War this week at DCA. Starring Kirsten Dunst and directed by Alex Garland (Ex Machina), this dark thriller sees America split into warring factions, on the brink of destruction.

Join us for If Only I Could Hibernate, a Mongolian drama about a young boy from Ulaanbaatar aiming to win a scholarship, and The Delinquents, a laugh-out-loud reinvention of the heist genre. There's also still time to see Back to Black, a vibrant biopic celebrating the wit and artistry of Amy Winehouse.

Elsewhere, Live from the Met continues with Puccini's love story La Rondine, see Michael Sheen as NHS founder Nye Bevan in NT Live: Nye, and delve into the world of modern espionage and digital privacy with documentary Phantom Parrot. Finally, we begin our Ealing Comedies season with 1947's Hue and Cry, which follows a gang of street boys who outwit a master crook. Enjoy!

Fri 19 - Thu 25 April

Civil War (15, 1h49m)

A dystopian vision of the near future which sees America split into opposing factions and facing its demise through a civil war.

Civil War

If Only I Could Hibernate (12A, 1h38m)

In this thought-provoking drama, a gifted young boy tries to secure a scholarship to lift his family out of poverty in Ulaanbaatar.

If Only I Could Hibernate

The Delinquents (12A, 3h10m)

This Argentinian adventure offers a new spin on the heist film, combining the existential and the playful to explore freedom itself.

The Delinquents

Back to Black (15, 2h2m)

There's still time to see this powerful and vivid tribute to Amy Winehouse, which explores the story behind her rise to stardom.

Hue and Cry (U, 1h22m)

Known as the first great Ealing comedy, this screening will be introduced by Dr Brian Hoyle, Senior Lecturer in Film Studies at University of Dundee.
